

THE WINE FRONT

Felton Road Block 5 Pinot Noir 2010

Posted on 03 April 2013

I remember when I was in Retail Land how precious it was to be allocated bottles of Block 5 – I dreamed of a bottle or two entering my realm, rather than selling to clients, loved when Boss Man opened a bottle on occasion, such a treat. Still get that feeling now; funny how these things carry on. Felton Road has some pretty amazing looking vineyards, pretty as a picture, biodynamically tended, even their own cow wanders around in their upper paddocks. This has always been about the superior vines in a superior spot.
